HOW TO SCORE "PRO-STATS" BASEBALL

This style of score blank calls for the placing of the players' names one line below the column designated for players. The individual score for each player is kept in the batter's square, which is denoted by a diamond in the center. (Note the diamond numbers each player by position.)

The symbols which are used to score are indicated by letters. The abbreviations which are to be employed mostly consist of letters. The typical scoring system is for the scorer to follow the player around the diamond on the scoring form, starting at home plate, on the lower part of the diamond, going to first base, second base, third base, and then to the home plate. When a runner reaches a base, draw a line to that base, and indicate, inside the batters square, how he reached the base. Then continue the line to each base which he thereafter reaches. A completed line around the diamond represents a score, and the uncompleted diamond shows that the runner has been left on base, and indicates the base he reached before the end of the inning. Space is provided at the end of each inning to record the number of players left on base.

Players are numbered as to positions (Note numbers on small diamond within batter's square) as follows: Pitcher (1); catcher (2); first baseman (3); second baseman (4); third baseman (5); shortstop (6); left fielder (7); center fielder (8); right fielder (9).

SCORING A GAME:

In the first space designated "players" enter "WEAVER, second base." In the space to the right use an ordinary dash line in the batters square to designate a single (——). If it is a two-base hit, enter two dashes (═══), three-base hit, three dashes (≡≡≡), and four dashes for a home run (≣≣≣). A run batted in is designated by a dot (•) for each run batted in and a run scored is designated by a circle with an x thru it (⊗).

If a player is thrown out, say, from second base to first, use the figures (4-3), remembering that they stand for players. Whenever a play takes place it is therefore always possible to use a figure to explain and to record it. A fly-out is noted by the letter "F" and the number of the player making the catch, thus: F-7 would indicate that the catch was made by the left fielder. If a ground ball is taken by the first baseman, or other baseman who steps on a base and makes the out unassisted, the play would be indicated as "3-U".

ERRORS are depicted as follows: Fumble by third baseman: E-5; Wild Pitches are indicated by "WP"; Passed Ball "PB"; "K" denotes strike out; "FC" fielders choice; "SB" stolen base; "SAC" sacrifice; "SF" sacrifice fly; "HPB" hit by pitched ball; "BB" base on balls. Double plays are indicated by connecting players' boxes with small line and the sign "DP".

This scorebook contains forms for a thirty game schedule and includes a form for accumulative statistics for each player, including pitchers, which is entered after every fifth game and at the end of the book. These colored sheets should be detached from the book and displayed where each player can view his past performances.

Season summary forms, both individual and team, are provided at the end of the book.
